In regard to Section 6 and 7 above, due to the fact that this concerns a distribution which does not comply with the profit test, the Company applied to the tax assessment officer for the grant of his final approval regarding the tax rate to be withheld by the Company.

The Company obtained the Tax Authority's instruction as to the arrangement regarding withholding taxes at source which will apply to the Company with respect to the dividend payment. Based on the Tax Authority's instruction, taxes shall be withheld at source from the dividend amount, in accordance with the tax rates detailed under the Income Tax Regulations (Withholding from Consideration, Payment or Capital Gains from the Sale of Securities, the Sale of a Unit in a Mutual Fund or from Futures Transactions), 2002 ("Withholding At Source Regulations"). Nonetheless, for the following shareholders, the tax deduction at source shall be as follows:

*) For a shareholder which shall present a valid approval for the distribution from the Tax Authority, or a valid approval pursuant to the Withholding At Source Regulations, taxes shall be withheld at source in accordance with the said approval.

*) For a non-Israeli resident who is a resident of a country with which Israel has a tax treaty, and who signed Form 2402, taxes shall be withheld in accordance with the capital gains' double tax treaty entered into between the State of Israel and the state of his residency.

*) For any other non-Israeli resident – tax will be withheld in accordance with the tax rate indicated for a "body of persons" under Section 3b of the Withholding At Source Regulations (for a distribution received in 2016 – 25%) and for an "individual" under Section 2(a) (for a distribution received in 2016 – 25%).

8. Number of the Company's dormant securities non-eligible for dividend payment, in respect of which a dividend payment waiver must be provided: 0

9. The dividend distribution's impact on convertible securities: The Company does not have any outstanding convertible securities.

10. Recommendations and decisions of the Board of Directors in connection with the dividend distribution pursuant to section 37(a) (1) of the Israel Securities Law, (Periodic and Immediate Reports, 1970):

Below are the factors examined by the Board of Directors at the time of taking the distribution decision relating to its compliance with the solvency test:

1. The Board of Directors were presented with data regarding the financial position of the Company, including, the absence of debt, data regarding the asset balance and liquid balances of the Company, the rate of use of cash, the investment plan of the Company as well as a professional economic opinion that, taking into consideration the current and expected cash liquidity of the Company, the requested distribution and its impact on the Company's ability to pay its debts and satisfy its existing and future obligations as and when they fall due, there is no reasonable concern that the said distribution will prevent the Company from satisfying its existing and future obligations as and when they fall due .
2. Following examination of the above information, the Board of Directors decided to approve the distribution based on the following reasons:
  - a. The Company, currently, has no obligations towards third parties except for current liabilities in immaterial amounts. Therefore the Company's Board of Directors believes that the Company has the ability to meet its existing and expected obligations as and when they fall due (solvency test).
  - b. In the view of the Board of Directors, the distribution has no impact on the Company's activities, as currently contemplated.
  - c. The requested amount of the distribution is from the Company's cash balances and in the view of the Company's Board of Directors, the liquidity position of the Company enables the dividend distribution.
  - d. The proposed dividend distribution is a proper and acceptable means to enable the Company's shareholders to share in the Company's profits and its positive operating results.
  - e. The distribution was approved by the Court in accordance with Section 303 of the Israeli Companies Law, 1999.
3. The anticipated data and estimates set forth above constitute forward-looking information, as defined in the Israel Securities Law, 1968, that is based on an analysis of the data detailed above conducted by the Company. These anticipations and estimates may not be realized, in whole or in part, or they may be realized in a materially different manner from that anticipated, due, among other things, to: changes in capital market conditions, changes in venture capital industry conditions, changes in exchange rates and interest rates, political and national security-related changes, regulatory changes; which may affect the operations of the Company and its group companies, conditions of the different markets in which the Company's group companies operate, and liability exposure related to representations made and proceeds held in escrow in the course of exit transactions effected by the Company.
